Kirwan Institute Receives Food Innovation Center Seed Grant

The Kirwan Institute Global Justice Program's Food Justice Program was awarded a Seed Grant Target Award by Ohio State's Food Innovation Center. The grant will support the launch Kirwan's Large Scale Land Acquisitions Mapping Project, which will examine the impact of foreign investors' acquisition of millions of hectares of arable land in Africa since 2001. Among other factors, the project will study the benefits and impacts of foreign land investments on specific communities and countries in terms of food security, as well as social and ecological-biophysical impacts.
